Index / Outline

- (1) Defcon Groups Logo
- (2) A Really, Really Brief History of the DCG
  - (3) late 2002 ideas led to creation of Defcon Groups
  - (4) was one of a dozen or so folks starting a group
    - group would be great and far exceed the awesomeness of our local 2600 (or so I thought)
  - (5) officially launched in 2003 at Defcon 11
    - (6) reality of local 207
  - (7) trekked to Oregon and participated in 503 scene
    - highs, lows, but everyone got busy

- (8) moved to Seattle and found the thriving 206
  - more hackers!
- (9) And the Years Passed
  - most active groups off doing their own thing
  - many groups looking to abandon the Defcon banner in favor of hackerspaces
    - they have much cooler names
  - many groups simply didn't exist or respond
    - began with a list of over 170+ groups internationally
    - 102 were inactive! (seriously, I have the list to prove it)
    - 30 had significantly changed; hey, I'd not been the POC for DC207 for over 6 years!

- (10) DCG Lives!
  - 91 active groups worldwide today
  - at least 4 or 5 in the DCG inbox starting up
- (11) What is Coming?
  - Social media: facebook, google+, twitter.
  - Antisocial media: mailing lists, forums, … DCG-specific site launch later this year!
  - Hacker media: irc, bbs, group-built infrastructure?

- (12) Enough tangent, the groups that have been there, done that, do that – the PANEL!
